UNCLE SAM AND JOHN BULL

This is an age of criticism and withal of some humor. With the many serious matters to ponder over there must needs be a few things at least to make us merry and laugh. If there were not some pleasanties in what comes from my pen, I do not think it would scarcely be worth reading, but certainly not of writing.

Does just criticism hurt? If so let it. A public character must expect to be talked and written about. But the way some correspondents write about the men and women in high positions is nauseating in the extreme. They should be painted in their true colors, but they are often, and above all should be required to deliver the goods. This hero worship of common clay, is the peculiar province of the ignorant mind the world over.

The most humorous thing I've seen for many days is a series of six cartoons of Uncle Sam and John Bull in the Literary Digest, copied from the London Evening Standard. I laughed so heartily over them, that I actually broke up a cold.

The first one showed the two great representative characters of the Anglo-American race, with chests expanded and thumbs in vest, smoking—Sam a cigar and John a pipe. They were congratulating each other upon the fact that they spoke the same language and were of the same race. Then came the second, and the third, and the fourth, and the fifth, and the sixth, showing the peculiar characteristics of the other. Some said that John was "a bit old fashioned," "a stupid bore," "a bit old fashioned," "a stupid bore," "a bit old fashioned," "a stupid bore."

Some said that John was "a bit old fashioned," "a stupid bore," "a bit old fashioned," "a stupid bore," "a bit old fashioned," "a stupid bore."

Restless Nights are Nature's Signal of "Danger Ahead."

Mrs. B. R. Ball, Olean, N. Y.

Says, "Come or write to 483 1-2 N. Union Street, and I will tell you my full experience with Lithiated Buchu (Keller Formulation)." It acts on bladder as cures salts do on bowels. Drives out foreign deposits and lessens excessive acidity. This relieves the irritation that causes getting up nights. The tablets cost 25c each at all drug stores, Keller Laboratory, Mechanicville, Ohio, or locally at L. V. Ashton's.

It Is Not a Question

Of thousands of dollars but a few dollars deposited with regularity and persistence.

It's there when you want it! No waiting, rather it's waiting for you! Not so much as a match to strike! No coal, soot, ashes, smoke—nothing to bother with!
